LEADER'S GUIDE

1. Getting Started

Register Your Program at PTA.org/Reflections. (Local PTA's only – not Councils.) Once you have registered, you will have the opportunity to connect with other PTA Reflections leaders by joining the Reflections network. This is a support system comprised of national, state and regional PTA leaders eager to answer your questions and share best practices.

Create Your Account at <https://ptareflections.fluidreview.com/>. All Local PTA's are REQUIRED to register and enter advancing student entries into the Student Portal. When moving entries into the Council round, include a screen shot of all entries moving on to Council judging. Entries will not be accepted at State if they are not entered into the Student Portal. Local PTA's are responsible for ensuring their entries are in the system. If you are having trouble entering your information into the Student Portal please contact the Washington State Reflections Chair at reflections@wastatepta.org.

Gather program materials, deadlines and instructions from your state's website:

<https://www.wastatepta.org/events-programs/reflections/>. Customize your checklist to organize tasks and schedule local program deadlines.

- National Arts in Education Week (Sept. 10-14, 2018) is the perfect time to kick-off your program and announce the program's theme: Heroes Around Me. Share your program kick-off activities with thousands of program leaders across the country using #PTAReflections and #ArtsEdWeek on social media.
- National Arts and Humanities Month (October) is the perfect time for PTA to offer time, space and materials for students to participate in the arts. Share your support of family arts events, student clubs and visiting artists using #PTAReflections and #ShowYourArt.
- All Reflections entries are due to the Washington State PTA office in Tacoma by: Friday, January 18th, 2019.

Recruit a committee of 4-6 parent and teacher volunteers. Volunteers will enrich the program by bringing a variety of ideas, talents and skills; and they will make your job much easier and more enjoyable by ensuring that program tasks don't fall on your shoulders alone. Assigning project leaders and dividing tasks will save time and energy. Use the volunteer sign-up sheet to help recruit volunteers with specific skills/interests.

Recruit a team of 6 or more arts experts to review student submissions. Inviting professionals in the arts community to participate as reviewers will increase the credibility of your program and exposure for PTA. All reviewers must have a working knowledge of their assigned arts area. Use the program flier to help introduce Reflections to local arts professionals.

TIP: Ask arts teachers to help you identify working professionals in your local arts community. Consider local arts agencies, arts and cultural organizations, colleges, community leaders, and prominent artists.

2. Promote Your Program

Download materials for students: Visit your state PTA website to download and distribute student materials including official guidelines and entry form. Please review your state's official rules and ensure your PTA/PTSA is in "good standing" status of affiliation with your state PTA. It is the responsibility of the state and local PTA/PTSA to determine each student's eligibility in the National PTA Reflections program.

Available Arts Categories and Divisions: All student entrants must follow official guidelines and arts category submission requirements, including a signed entry form. Please review the special artist division rules to learn more about opportunities for students with disabilities.

- Offer 1 or more arts category: dance choreography, film production, literature, music composition, photography and visual arts. Students may enter in one or more arts categories.
- Offer 1 or more division: Primary: Preschool-Grade 2, Intermediate: Grades 3-5, Middle School: Grades 6-8, High School: Grades 9-12, Special Artist: All grades.

Tips for Program Promotion: Our goal is to encourage all students to participate in the arts through PTA Reflections. Take time to introduce the program to families and school personnel. Consider the following ideas:

- Send program fliers home to parents.
- Post your call for entries on school and/or PTA website and social media as well as newsletters, blogs and bulletin boards.
- Ask student leaders to hang posters in visible locations and encourage their peers over morning announcements. Willing students might be found in classes, programs and afterschool clubs that involve the creative, literary, media and performing arts.
- Host a PTA table or student arts showcase at schoolwide assemblies and back to school nights. Have fliers, participation guidelines and entry forms available.
- Request time at a staff meeting to present the Reflections program to teachers. Gather ideas on how they might encourage their class to participate. Ask how this year's theme might be linked to curriculum and other learning objectives.

SAMPLE MORNING ANNOUNCEMENT: Do you enjoy art, music and dance or have an interest in writing, producing films and taking photos? Then join us and have fun unleashing your inner artist with PTA Reflections! This year's theme, "Heroes Around Me," calls for your own unique interpretation through the arts. 3. Coordinate the Review of Student Submissions

The task of reviewing student entries involves collecting and qualifying submissions as well as providing direction for your team of volunteer reviewers.

Qualifying Submissions: Submissions are reviewed by arts category and division. Save time by collecting submissions by classroom. Ask your committee to scan and flag incomplete entry forms and works that do not follow program guidelines and submission requirements.

Reviewing Submissions: Give each of your volunteer judges a welcome letter, instructions, rubric and score card. Provide reviewers with the student's work, as well as the title and artist statement for each of their assigned entries. The title and artist statement will help your reviewers understand each student's inspiration for their work and how it relates to the theme.

Review Criteria: The program theme and review criteria are what make Reflections stand out among other arts contests. It's important for reviewers to notice that "interpretation of the theme" is weighed more heavily than the other considerations. Have judges record their points for each student work on the score card. Add together the points from each judge and rank the artwork accordingly. If two entries are tied, the entry with the higher score for interpretation of theme receives more recognition.

TIP: Set your local PTA submission deadline approximately one month before submissions are due to the next round. This will allow ample time for organizing, qualifying and scoring submissions, as well as preparing winners for the next round.

TIP: Conduct "blind judging"—where reviewers do not see student info. Consider both online and in-person review session ideas:

To host an online review session: Assign numbers to each submission and provide reviewers with a list of submission titles and artist statements by assigned number. Share digital copies of student works using CDs, USB drives or cloud based file sharing platforms).

To host an in-person review session. Display works on tables around the room. Tri-fold the student entry form to show only the judging information section. Place the title of work and artist statement in front of the student's work. Instruct reviewers to rotate around the room and score each entry.

4. Celebrate Your Student Participants

To help you plan, visit <https://www.wastatepta.org/events-programs/reflections/> for a Reflections celebration event planning guide, template certificate and other celebration tools.

Assign Awards: By student's division and arts category, assign awards based on your rankings. Recommended award levels include: Award of Excellence; Award of Merit; Honorable Mention and Participant. Your region/state program leader will offer additional guidance regarding number of awards and/or number of submissions that may advance to the next level.

You may choose to publicly recognize volunteer reviewers to inspire students and raise the credibility of your program. However, if a question is raised about the status or score of an entry, it is the responsibility of the PTA Reflections Committee to address it. Under no conditions may a reviewer be contacted and/or respond to disputes regarding the status and score of an entry.

Celebrate Student Achievement: Recognizing your students' participation and accomplishments will help your PTA create family memories that will last a lifetime. You will grow students' confidence by hosting opportunities for family members, school personnel and community leaders to value their artistic skills, creative vision and unique interpretation on the theme.

There are many ways to announce winners, distribute awards and showcase works for the whole school and community to enjoy. Consider the following ideas for recognizing student participation and achievement:

- Announce winners on PTA/school website and in newsletters, social media and
- Award certificates, ribbons or prizes donated by local businesses.
- Showcase student works at PTA and school board meetings and display student works throughout school and community venues (e.g. school lobby, community library, arts center).

Opportunity for State and National Recognition: Provide your students with an opportunity to share their work across the state and nation. PTA Reflections is a multi-layered program offering local, district/council/region, state and national levels of recognition. PTAs are encouraged to advance their finalists to the next available round. For more details and instructions, please contact the program leader of the next available level.

TIP: Host a PTA welcome table to distribute arts education resources and recruit new PTA members.

TIP: Invite school leaders, policy makers and community leaders to meet families and learn more about PTA's support for a complete education that includes the arts.

5. Wrap Up and Report Program Success

Recognize Partners and Volunteers: After your Reflections program concludes for the year, one of the most important tasks is to thank those who helped make it a success. Use the acknowledgement letter at <https://www.wastatepta.org/events-programs/reflections/> to thank student and parent leaders, school personnel, submission reviewers and community businesses for their support.

Return Student Works: Return non-advancing works immediately following judging and/or exhibition and no later than the last day of the school year. Electronic submissions (video, music, pdf., and digital photos) are typically not returned. Please be sensitive to secondary students needing their artwork for college admission. If student artwork advances, it will be returned according to state and/or national policies.

Meet with your Reflections Committee and other team members to reflect on the program, gather feedback and document successes and areas needing improvement. Sharing this information with next year's team will provide a smooth transition from one Reflections Chair to the next. Visit PTA.org/ReflectionsToolkit for a sample program evaluation.

Share Your Success: After your program concludes, please share program success with your state and National PTA. Simply, visit PTA.org/Reflections and complete a 5 min. survey. Your feedback is important to us and we look forward to improving Reflections for future students.

We also encourage you to share your success with your PTA board and school administrator. Visibility of award announcements, attendance at your event and personal quotes from families and community partners will help capture your program's reach and impact as well as your PTA's ability to support student success, engage families and build community partnerships.
