

Sign in PRO on SB 5918: Funding the Basics of Basic Education

Let legislators know every Washington school needs the resources to keep the lights on and the doors open by signing in PRO on SB 5918 by 9:30 AM on Wednesday, January 21. This critical legislation addresses the growing gap between what the state pays for basic school operations and what districts actually spend - forcing schools to divert enrichment dollars meant for programs and services that help students succeed.

Washington's School Funding Crisis

An increasing number of school districts are in financial crisis.[1] Following the historic McCleary lawsuit, state investment in K-12 peaked at 52% of the operating budget. Today, it has dropped to just 43-44%, and inflation-adjusted funding has actually gone DOWN.[2]

The gap between what the state funded for Materials, Supplies, and Operating Costs (MSOC) in 2023-24 and actual costs was over $456 million—more than $400 per student.[3] Despite the legislature passing a much appreciated $79 million minimal down payment on MSOC in the 2025 session, districts still must use enrichment levy dollars or reserves meant for enhanced learning opportunities to pay for basic requirements like insurance, utilities, technology, and curriculum.[4]

When schools divert enrichment dollars to keep the lights on, students lose access to updated curriculum, teacher training, technology, library materials, and lab equipment they need to thrive. Moreover, reliance on enrichment levy dollars for the basics is not equitable because many districts cannot pass levies or cannot pass levies that generate the same amount of dollars as wealthier districts.

What SB 5918 Does:

Increases MSOC allocations by $100 per student or $100,000 per district, whichever is greater—a critical step toward closing the funding gap and ensuring schools can afford the basics.
